

FAQs: Digital Nomad Visa

1. Who can I contact at NIPDB for a letter of motivation?

Upon satisfying all criteria outlined in the checklist, we will furnish a letter of motivation with your application to the Ministry of Home Affairs, Immigration, Safety and Security (MHAISS), endorsing your suitability.

2. Do I need to provide certified copies of my qualifications or is a letter of enrolment enough?

All foreign qualifications must be duly translated and certified by a notary public such as Commissioner of Oath. Letters of enrolment are not acceptable substitutes.

3. As a Digital Nomad Visa (DNV) holder in Namibia, will I be taxed?

Should you spend over 180 days in Namibia while earning an income from sources outside the country, you might be subject to income tax obligations.

4. What specific details should my doctor include in the medical certificate?

Your medical certificate must adhere to the specific guidelines provided in the MHAISS medical template. If a medical condition is not considered significant in your country, submission of those specific results may not be necessary. A separate template exists for the radiological report.

5. Is the application fee due on arrival payable in cash or via bank transfer?

No payment is required upon arrival. Payment is only necessary after your application has been approved and can be made via electronic funds transfer from abroad. The processing time for funds to reflect in the state treasury account is approximately 15 working days. Local representatives can make payments directly at MHAISS through cash, card, or EFT.
